Potential Sources of Funding

Sources of financing for executive training differ by region and country. Listed below are several organizations that have funded participants to our executive programs in the past. Training funds are often available as part of larger grant and loan programs, with most decisions on funding being made at the country level. Therefore, applications should be submitted to the funding organization’s resident representative in your country or its representative at the regional level. We would suggest that only if no local or regional representative is available should you or your nominating government agency contact the organization’s headquarters.

Please note that all United Nations agencies, and many other funding organizations, accept or prefer applications for funding only if a branch of your own government or organization nominates you for financial assistance.
